Truman May Call Congress Back To Cope With Prices

Congressman Levels Charge Of 'Politics'

Washington (AP) — President Truman said yesterday he is considering whether to call a special session of Congress to try to halt another upward price spiral.

He also told his first news conference in over a month that he:

One — Would have supported Vice President Alben W. Barkley had the Kentuckian stayed in the race for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Two — Never considered backing Averell Harriman for the national ticket.

Three — Believes the Democrats picked the best man and a winner in Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson. This was no reflection on the other contenders, he added.

Four — Will discuss with Stevenson at a Cabinet luncheon next Tuesday all possible steps to achieve party victory in November, including the President's own part in the campaign.

As for Truman's declaration that he is thinking of calling Congress back, Rep. Leonard W. Hall of New York said the President "apparently is up to his old trick of mal-use for political purposes of his constitutional power to convene Congress in special session."

Hall is chairman of the Republican Campaign Committee, and his statement was distributed by the GOP National Committee.

He recalled that the President, in accepting this party's nomination in 1948, had announced such a special call and said that Congress in 15 days' time could complete a program of 11 pieces of major legislation.

"In the intervening four years," Hall continued, "the President has had two Democrat-controlled Congresses and not a single one of these 11 specific requests has been enacted although the President insisted the Republican 80th Congress should pass them 'in 15 days.'"

"Now the President again toys with the idea of a special session, this time in the name of dealing with rising prices," Hall went on.

"Inasmuch as the President's own colossal spending program and equally colossal blunders are the cause of most of America's economic ailments today, the American people may well question his motives in even considering a special session unless he intends to submit a new budget . . . calling for a drastic reduction in expenditures."

The President would not elaborate on the possibility of a special session. He said he would wait developments before deciding whether to call Congress back and when.

Price Stabilizer Ellis Arnall said after a White House call Wednesday that a special session may be necessary "if food prices continue to get out of hand and skyrocket."

Congress in June rejected administration requests for tougher price controls, and there has been no indication of any mass shift of sentiment.

Accused Of Plot
Tehran, Iran, (AP) — The semi-official newspaper Bakhtar Emrooz accused several high Army officers yesterday of plotting a military coup. At least two of the officers named are known to be close to Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi.

Sen. McKellar Trails In Bid For New Term

Nashville, Tenn., (AP)—Veteran Sen. K. D. McKellar trailed farther behind last night in his Tennessee Democratic primary race for an unprecedented seventh U. S. Senate term.

Rep. Albert Gore, 44, built up a lead of more than 28,000 votes over McKellar, 83, on the basis of unofficial returns.

Tabulation of the votes from 1,267 precincts of the state's 2,300 precincts gave Gore 89,131 votes to McKellar's 61,011 total.

Despite the heavy lead piled up by Gore, observers said Memphis returns might alter the picture.

Frank Clement, 52-year-old former FBI agent, took the lead away from Gov. Gordon Browning as counting progressed in the race for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination. Browning is seeking his third consecutive two-year term.

HST's Role In Campaign To Be Aired

By The Associated Press
President Truman indicated yesterday he expects to learn at a grand strategy huddle next week whether he should swing out on a give-'em-hell tour or take a more restrained role in Gov. Adlai Stevenson's campaign for the presidency.

Truman told his news conference the part he will play in the campaign will be discussed Tuesday when Stevenson attends a Cabinet meeting at the White House.

Although Truman himself acts like a man raring to get in some licks at the Republicans, a variety of factors will undoubtedly be weighed in determining whether he should share the limelight with Stevenson in a "road show" or allow the Illinois governor to take top billing alone.

Truman demonstrated in 1948 that he was a powerhouse vote-getter, but Stevenson has shown clear reluctance to be tabbed too closely with the Truman administration and has served notice that he intends to be his "own master."

Truman has insisted there must be no retreat from his Fair Deal policies if the Democrats are to win, but Stevenson has taken pains to soothe the ruffled tempers of Southern leaders who bitterly resented attempts to write a strong civil rights plank into the party's platform at Chicago.

Veterans Condemn UNESCO Program

Los Angeles, (AP)—The Veterans of Foreign Wars yesterday condemned the teaching in public schools of the UNESCO study program.

The veterans' national convention also backed universal military training, declaring in a resolution "no nation can use strong talk at the peace table without military might to back it up, and a large trained reserve will form part of that might."

The delegates also demanded an increased Merchant Marine, cessation of trade with Czechoslovakia, and the release of William Oatis, Associated Press correspondent now held prisoner by the Czechs.

A workable federal bonus for veterans also was advocated, along with re-establishment of 16,000 beds in Veterans Administration hospitals.

Wounds Sideline Two Marines Of Hare-Hound Team Fame
Nekoosa, Wis., (AP)—The Marine Corps' "hare and hound" team, which combined to kill nine Communists with as many shots, has been sidelined with wounds, it developed yesterday.

Both Pfc. Henry A. Friday of Nekoosa, who served as the decoy, and his buddy, Sgt. John E. Boitnott of Comfort, N. C., who handled the rifle, were wounded in action July 26, according to word received by their home folks.

Friday's widowed mother, Lydia, said she had been advised by the Defense Department that her son suffered shrapnel wounds and was hospitalized in Japan. Fragments struck him in the ear and chin, but Mrs. Friday said

Greeks Force Bulgar Reds To Withdraw

Athens (AP) — The Greek General Staff said Communist Bulgarian troops withdrew last night—under Greek mortar and machine gun fire—from the tiny, disputed Isle of Gamma in the Evros River, which forms the Greek-Turkish-Bulgarian frontier.

After a day-long pounding of the island, the General Staff said the Bulgarian troops—probably no more than a patrol strength—were seen evacuating the island.

The announcement said no Greek troops were sent to the island, since the only objective of the gunfire was to get the Bulgarians out. The Greeks had given the Bulgarians an ultimatum to get off the island—which both countries claim—and then opened up when the demand was ignored.

A dispatch from Istanbul, Turkey, said the Bulgarians had returned the Greek fire, although there was no report to this effect in the dispatches direct from Greece. The Turkish border is only a few miles from Gamma. The Bulgarians also were reported firing back at the Greeks after withdrawing to Bulgarian territory on the north side of the Evros, according to the reports from Turkey. Two thousand Greek troops were said to be drawn up on the south bank of the river.

Aside from the announced withdrawal, the General Staff blacked out all information as to the size of its forces, the gravity of the situation or whether either side had suffered casualties. Unofficial reports from the scene said the Greeks, moving up troops to the Bulgarian border, were backed by artillery.

United Nations Balkans Commission observers on the scene reported to the U.N. in New York that big forces of both countries were ready for action. Before the shooting started they called the situation "very dangerous" and urged Greece to ask U.N. intervention which might "possibly save the situation."

The Greek delegate at the U.N. already had said Greece was not contemplating such a request. Despite some expressed fears of a dangerous Balkan flareup, a Greek diplomatic source at Istanbul, Turkey, described the incident as a local one—a continuation of a series of flareups in the area over the past five years. Istanbul dispatches quoted officials at Adrianople, a Turkish town 10 miles from Gamma, as saying the firing lasted 90 minutes, stopping at 10 a. m.

Challenge Meets Ready Response

Pittsburgh, (AP)—Two policemen sitting in their patrol car were surprised yesterday when George Kountz, 45, of Pittsburgh pulled his auto alongside, leaned out the window and said:

"Say, are you fellows interested in a little race?"

The policemen took Kountz to a city physician who said he was intoxicated. Kountz was charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol.

Triplets Born

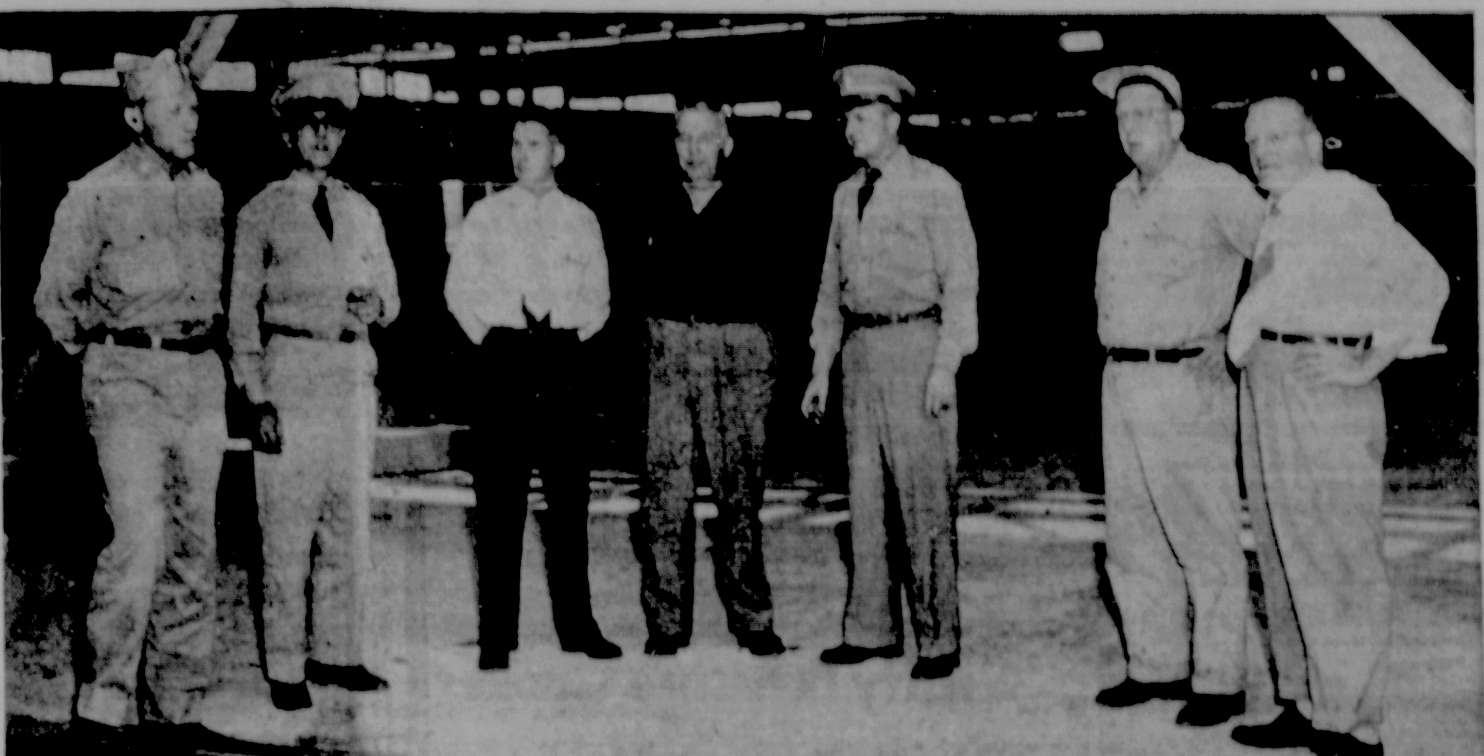

Pittsburgh, (AP)—Triplets—two girls and a boy—were born five weeks prematurely yesterday in Pittsburgh Hospital to Mrs. Lydia Tierno.

her information was the wounds were not serious.

Earlier, Boitnott's wife revealed at her home in Comfort that the sergeant's arm was broken by an enemy hand grenade. Neither woman knew details of the incidents nor whether they occurred at the same time.

The two men earned national fame the day before they were wounded. Dispatches from Korea told how Boitnott, an 11-year veteran of the Marines and an expert rifleman, used Friday as a decoy atop their trench to attract Communist fire and then picked off the snipers.

The "hare and hound" game was called off by high Marine officers when its details were revealed.

Monroe County Legionnaires Not Affected By Fire Which Damages Their Hotel In Philly

American Legionnaires and auxiliary members from Monroe County were at the Bellvue Stratford Hotel in Philadelphia when fire broke out on the 17th floor there at about 5 a. m. yesterday.

They were among 1,000 guests—most of them attending the State American Legion convention—in the hotel at the time.

The fire had no effect on the Monroe County delegation, all of whom occupied lower floors, according to a telephone report from Bernard Rowe to his wife at 72 Ransberry Ave., East Stroudsburg.

Rowe was located on the fourth floor. The 17th was used entirely for service and supply. No guests were housed there.

The fire was believed to have started in a tiny supply room. Flames burst into the hallway and gushed out a window before discovery, then ate their way through the ceiling into the 38th floor. This, too, is used for supply and storage.

Firemen, summoned by two alarms, confined the flames to the 17th. Water cascaded along corridors and down stairways, causing some damage to rooms on the three lower floors and forcing the hotel to transfer guests to other accommodations. Some 400 guests evacuated their rooms during the fire.

Rowe said he was unexcited at the time. He told his wife he sat by the window and watched the streets below. A number of guests appeared below in their nightclothes, he said.

Later on, when he awoke again, Rowe said he thought he was "crazy." He saw a clear day through one window, and rain through the other. A moment later Rowe realized that crews were shoving the water out of the upper floors and it was trickling down outside of the hotel.

Nine Seamen Killed, 75 Hurt In Jet Blast Aboard Carrier

Washington, (AP)—A jet airplane exploded below decks on the carrier Boxer off Korea Tuesday night, killing nine seamen, injuring 75 and destroying 12 other aircraft.

Sixty-three members of the crew leaped overboard to escape the flames which raged through the hangar deck, where the airplanes were stored. They were rescued by lifeboats and helicopters.

The Navy reported the accident yesterday and said it occurred in waters 50 miles off Korea.

About 50 of the injured were listed as suffering from smoke exhaustion, the Navy said. Only 11 are still in the ship's sick bay, with one case listed as "serious" and another as "critical."

The seriously injured man was identified as AEM 2C Michael F. Hanniffy of Miami, Fla., who suffered 2nd and 3rd degree burns. Critically injured from burns and compound leg fractures was Airman Ralph L. Finley of Norfolk, Mo., the Navy said.

The Navy said it does not plan to release any more names of wounded at this time because the injuries are not serious.

The Boxer is proceeding to Yokosuka Naval Base in Japan. Naval sources said the ship is seriously damaged, but they gave no details.

No enemy action was involved, the Navy said. The cause of the explosion was still undetermined. There was unofficial speculation here that an accumulation of gases in the aircraft led to the blast.

The 37,000-ton Boxer normally carries a crew of 2,900 officers and men. Capt. Marshall Gurney was sent to the Far East recently to relieve Capt. Dennis J. Sullivan as skipper of the carrier. The Navy said it is presumed that Gurney was aboard when the explosion occurred, although it has not been informed that Gurney has relieved Sullivan.

The Boxer fought in the Pacific during World War II, earning a reputation as a fast and handy ship. She began a third tour of Korean duty April 1.

The parades, from all sections of the state, provided laughs and amusement in an event considered one of the highlights of the Legion's Department of Pennsylvania 34th annual convention.

Earlier yesterday, more than 1,000 delegates heard former FBI undercover agent, Matt Cvetie, recommend in an address at Convention Hall that the United States should sever diplomatic relations with Soviet Russia.

Allied Raids Rise In Fury

Seoul, (AP)—The Allied air war rose in fury yesterday, with hundreds of fighter-bombers sowing destruction across North Korea and Sabres destroying four MIG jets that tried to interfere.

The Fifth Air Force said five MIGs also were damaged, bringing Red losses to 15 destroyed and 19 damaged in four days of torrid combat. Allied losses, if any, are announced weekly.

The Air Force was not talking, but it seemed obvious the intensified air blows were designed to put pressure on the Communists to quit stalling at the armistice table at Panmunjom.

In bright, hot sunshine, great numbers of fighter-bombers took off from air fields laden with bombs, rockets and jellied gasoline and headed for the skies over North Korea.

The Air Force said the total number of flights against enemy targets could not be divulged.

Nor was it disclosed whether the swarms of Allied planes were knocking off one by one the 78 North Korean military targets which civilians in Allied broadcasts and leaflets have been warned to flee.

As the fighter-bombers filled the sky, Red MIGs in undisclosed numbers snarled out from their Manchurian bases and were met head-on by the protective screen of swift Sabres.

Finletter Urges Red Cooperation

Washington, (AP)—Secretary of the Air Force Finletter urged Communist leaders yesterday to co-operate in minimizing danger to civilians in 78 Korean cities scheduled for bombing of military targets by U. N. forces.

"If the Communists will work with us, we can hold down, if not entirely avoid civilian casualties," Finletter said in a statement at the Pentagon.

The secretary emphasized, however, that "we have to destroy these military objectives and equipment because they will be used against our boys."

Reports from the Far East have indicated that the Red leaders thus far have failed to co-operate with the United Nations Command in getting civilians away from cities on the bombing schedule.

Workers Given Wage Increase
New York, (AP)—The Bethlehem Steel Co. yesterday announced pay increases for its steel division employees not covered by collective bargaining agreements.

The boost is 10 per cent, with a minimum of $22 a month, for those earning $1,250 a month or less. Increases for those earning more than $1,250 is to be determined on an individual basis.

Chiefly affected are junior executives, sales and other white collar workers.

The company Wednesday completed contract terms with the CIO Steelworkers providing for an average wage increase of at least 16 1/2 cents an hour, plus fringe benefits.

A Bethlehem spokesman said the raises announced yesterday, effective as of last March 1, "approximates" the steelworkers' gains.

Examiner's Report Final In 30 Days

Home owners in Stroudsburg, East Stroudsburg, Bangor and Pen Argyl were assured yesterday of potential natural gas supplies by a ruling of a Power Commission examiner in Washington, D.C.

The examiner recommended that two subsidiaries of the Columbia Gas System Inc. should supply natural gas to four utility companies serving Pennsylvania and New York areas.

Examiner Emory J. Woodall held the Manufacturers Light and Heat Co., Pittsburgh, a subsidiary of Columbia, should supply gas to the Bangor Gas Co., Pen Argyl Gas Co. and Citizens Gas Co., of Stroudsburg.

A Citizens Gas official estimated last night that the company's 2600 to 2800 regular consumers would join in the switch from propane to natural gas as well as several hundred other home owners in the area who have been waiting for the availability of the natural gas.

Necessary pipe for installation of the natural gas line is now in storage here, having been purchased a year ago in preparation for the commission's decision.

A portion of the line—a casing line under the railway tracks east of the plant site—has already been completed.

Plans are to bring the gas line past General Hospital, down Brown St. to the gas company building.

The company official said work would probably begin as soon as a 30-day "waiting" period following the examiner's findings, has been completed.

No definite date can presently be announced for the availability of natural gas in the area, the official said, since that announcement must be made by Penn Fuel Gas Inc., of which the Stroudsburg, Bangor and Pen Argyl companies are subsidiaries.

If no "review" of the examiner's statement is asked in the 30-day period, the ruling will become final. The Power Commission office in Washington said last night.

South Still In Grip Of Dry Spell

By The Associated Press
The weather—some of it good, and some bad—made news in widely separated sections of the nation yesterday. New England's drought was over, Texas got a blistering heat wave, and the government acted to save cattle in two Southern drought stricken.

Rain fell for the third straight day over most of New England, breaking the long drought that caused millions of dollars in crop losses. Many of those losses can not be regained, officials said, but the rain made fall crop prospects look good.

Texas and the Southwest wilted under a broiling heat wave that sent temperatures as high as 114 degrees. Some sections had thunderstorms, and a 6,000-acre grass fire was blamed on lightning in a storm near Thorckmorton, Tex.

The Weather Bureau reported that no relief from the heat was in sight in the Southwestern states. More widely scattered showers fell in the drought-stricken Southeastern states yesterday, and were expected to continue today, but amounts were too light to be of value to farmers.

Truman declared Tennessee and Kentucky disaster areas and set aside three million dollars for the emergency purchase of hay and grain so that beef and dairy cattle in those states would not be doomed to premature slaughter.

Commissioners Consider Microfilming Of County Records

Economic Advantages Mentioned

Commissioners yesterday began looking into the possibility of using microfilm reproduction for every-day courthouse work.

The proposal was put before the board by Recorder Floyd Butz, who has been checking into photostat and microfilm advantages and disadvantages for more than a year.

The recorder's office handles a vast amount of paper work. All of it, naturally, must be exact to the last comma and period.

On the basis of last year's work alone, Butz figures the county would have saved about $3,500 if work in that office had been done with a $2,500 microfilming machine.

Some 6,239 pages of instruments were recorded in 1951, at a cost of $6,827.85, Butz said.

The same number of pages done by machine would have cost about $3,501.84, Butz calculated — or a saving of about $1,000 over and above the price of the machine.

The saving to the county would be in the number of clerks needed to transact the business of the office.

At present, Butz said, the work of about three and a half clerks is needed to transcribe and proofread the instruments recorded.

The proposed machine would do the work now being done by these three and a half clerks.

In another comparison of costs, Butz said a completed 600-page docket transcribed (copied by typewriter), proofread, and bound, costs about $665.

The same book, by machine, would cost about $235.

The process would work this way, as Butz described it: A deed would be brought in for recording. The deed would be placed in the machine and all its pages photographed by a simple button-pressing system.

When the film is completed, it is sent to a commercial company specializing in the business.

The company processes the film and returns a roll of microfilm, plus positive prints everything photographed, in original size.

At the recorder's office the pages would be assembled in a binder or docket and placed on the shelves for reference. The microfilm would be stored in some safe place—like a bank vault.

The company charges a total of 33½ cents a page for print and microfilm. This compares with $1 a page by the present hand methods.

Another cost comparison by Butz recently the office had to obtain 48 photostatic copies of certain records. The total cost was $27.60. With the machine available, the cost would have been $8.16—a saving of $19.44.

Butz based his figures on the work handled only by his office. However the same machine could of course be used to reproduce instruments or dockets in other offices, such as the commissioners' office or prothonotary's office.

Physically, the machine is relatively small and could be set up in the rear of the Recorder's office. It is simple to operate, and anyone can do the button-pressing, Butz said.

Advantages cited by the recorder: A microfilm record would enable any or all of the courthouse records to be reproduced exactly as they were, in the event of fire, flood or disaster.

Any page or pages of any dockets could be cheaply and quickly reproduced in as many copies as desired.

The county would save more than $3,000 a year in the recorder's office alone.

Parking Meter Receipts Up Seventh Consecutive Month

Meter receipts in the Borough of Stroudsburg gained over the same period a year ago for the seventh consecutive month this year.

July receipts, according to a report submitted by Harold E. Snyder, borough secretary, were $134.02 greater than the same month of 1951 when they were $2,556.62.

Gain for the calendar year through July amounts to $848.22, represented by collections of $16,095.48 this year as against $15,247.26 last year.

For the 12-month period ending with July 31, the gain stood at $673.79 based on collections of $27,831.12 this year against $27,157.33 last year.

Bills covering operating expenses for the borough during July amount to $10,356.66. Expenses on the sewer account for the same period were $2,263.35.

The complete treasurer's report of James A. Somers, borough treasurer shows regular account had a balance of $3,388.17 July 1. Receipts amounted to $14,638.15 and total expenses $12,695.01, leaving a balance of $5,331.31.

Sewer account had a balance of $10,390.07 July 1. Revenue from rents were $706 and total expenses $1,746.41 for a balance August 1 of $9,350.64.

Butz said the microfilming method is being used by a number of other counties and municipalities in the country, as well as hundreds of business firms.

A committee of the Monroe County Bar Association also has the technique under study, according to chairman Leo Achterman.

One of the courthouse dockets was photographed by this method, and reproduced. It is Ejectment Docket No. 2, in the prothonotary's office.

A number of attorneys have indicated they are not satisfied with the result. However, the docket used was tattered, dog-eared, torn, and scotch-taped together in many places.

The committee has not yet gone on record as either favoring or disapproving the use of microfilm for current records. Achterman said some decision probably will be made early this fall.

In the meantime, commissioners have instructed Chief Clerk Harry Taylor to write to four Connecticut towns where the method now is being used to find out how they are faring.

Decree Served On Officials Of Race Track

Notice of the final decree which halted operation of the West End Race track at Gilbert this week was served on two officials yesterday.

Sheriff Jacob Altomese handed copies of the decree to Joseph Ribaldi, one of the operators and a defendant in the race track case; and to Anselmo Ribaldi, president of Pleasant Valley Inc., another of the defendants.

Track officials Monday appealed to the State Supreme Court from a final decree handed down by President Judge Fred W. Davis which granted a permanent injunction against the race track.

The injunction had been sought by two Gilbert churches whose properties adjoin the track, and by a number of residents.

The defendants Monday also petitioned for a supersedeas which, if granted, would enable them to continue operating the track until the appeal is disposed of in November.

The supersedeas decision will be certified to the Monroe County prothonotary. His office said yesterday it had not yet come in.

Czechs Deport Thousands From Principal Cities

Vienna, Austria, (AP)—Reports from usually reliable sources last night said the Czechoslovak government is deporting thousands of members of the former middle class from the nation's key cities.

The reports compared the wave of deportations to those in Hungary.

Thousands of families were said to have been forcibly driven from their homes in Prague, Bratislava and other cities in the past two or three weeks.

The reports said lawyers, architects, former factory owners and persons who held similar jobs before the Communists squeezed them out were the prime targets of the Czech government.

Roberts Hearing Resumes Monday; Doctors Pronounce Defendant Fit To Appear In Court

Two Wilkes-Barre physicians pronounced Jonah L. Roberts "fit to appear in court" yesterday and paved the way for the resumption of a court hearing on charges that the 46-year-old Edwardsville machinist killed his wife.

Assistant Luzerne County District Attorney Stephen Teller announced yesterday that the court hearing will be resumed on Monday at 10 a.m. in Wilkes-Barre.

Teller said two physicians had examined Roberts at the Wilkes-Barre General Hospital and "have certified that Roberts' condition warrants his appearance in court."

Automobile Kills Boy

Allentown, Pa., (AP)—A 10-year-old boy was struck and killed by an automobile yesterday on Route 45 near Berlinville, about 15 miles north of here.

The victim, William Hahn, was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Hahn, of RD2, Walnutport. He died in Palmerton Hospital about an hour after the accident.

Police said the car was driven by Merritt Berger, 20, also of Walnutport.

Overworked Congressmen

Dr. Mc-Nelson McGeary, who teaches political science at Penn State College, thinks congressmen are overworked. We can agree with him, in the cases of most congressmen.

But we can't go along with Dr. McGeary in the methods he prescribes for easing the burden on the members of Congress. For various reasons, we don't think they would work very well.

The Good Doctor suggests, for instance, that congressmen drop most of their activities not connected with their two chief duties—passing laws and keeping a check on the executive branch of the government.

This has been tried by some congressmen, with the result that they no longer are in Congress. What a congressman must think of constantly is keeping his job, which requires a multitude of what seem like unnecessary activities.

Another suggestion is that these hard-working congressmen be given more assistants—experts to do fact-finding and research.

A lot has been done along this line, in the congressional reorganization carried out some years ago. Congressmen got more office help, there's an information service for them and a special division of the Library of Congress to do research.

House members could have had administrative assistants at that time, but voted against it for the very logical reason that the administrative assistant might possibly unseat the congressman sometime by running for his job.

Dr. McGeary would outlaw filibusters in the Senate, limit investigations and do away with "irrelevant interruptions" in the Senate's business.

These things have been tried many times in the past, but they fail for various reasons. Filibusters, for instance, sometimes serve to enable senators to avoid the unpalatable task of voting on a controversial issue. Trying to limit congressional investigations is like trying to limit human nature. And who is to decide what is "irrelevant?"

Dr. McGeary's suggestions are well-meant, and his premise—that congressmen are overworked—is valid. But most outside attempts to reform congressional practices founder on the same point—congressmen represent their constituents, and to do so properly, without getting defeated in the next election, they have to perform a lot of chores not prescribed by the Constitution.

It's okay to say that congressmen should not be used as errand boys for the folks back home. But in actual practice, they are so used, and for a good reason. With most citizens, the only person they have a claim on in Washington is their congressman.

In the final analysis, if anything is done about the overworking of our congressmen, it will have to be done on a voluntary basis, with each congressman deciding how badly he is overworked, and what to do about it.

My New York

—By Mel Heimer

New York — The subway system in New York City is what I should judge to be one of the engineering marvels of the world; it also is remarkably economical and can provide you with 20-odd miles of transportation of a sort for one thin dime. It is a sweaty, dirty wonder and daily I shake my head in amazement and exasperation at it.

There are almost no accidents on the many subway lines that weave in and out of Manhattan, Brooklyn, Queens and the Bronx. The safety record is unbelievable. Yet once in a while one happens, as it did the other evening near the Nassau Street station in downtown Manhattan—and when I hear of it, I wince. Sudden disaster always is frightening—the grinding whack of a couple of autos belting each other head-on, the roar and whoosh of a plane diving nose first into solid ground.

But I suspect that it reaches its macabre height when it happens in the subway. The one the other night was comparatively minor; a 150 or so passengers, among 3,800 riding on two BMT trains, suffered assorted injuries, the most serious of which seemed to be arm and leg fractures. One train lost its power on a grade and rolled backward into a train that had been following it. It was that simple. They treated some of the passengers on the scene, some in hospitals, and an hour and a half after the crash the trains were rolling again as usual.

But when you have been in one of those things, you know the sheer wave of fright that rolls over your head. In this one, as in most of them, broken glass flew, lights went out, and most deadly of all, men and women alike became panicky. For what must have seemed an eternity, they milled around in the cars like so many cattle and it was during this time that most of the injuries happened. Iron handrails in the cars actually were bent out of shape by the people smashing up against them in hysterical confusion.

It is an odd thing to watch New Yorkers when they are confronted by a situation like this. The New Yorker by and large is a cool, calm, almost indifferent individual who can watch disaster and war and violence from afar with a curious detachment. Nothing impresses him. You would figure that if you wanted a man to take charge of things in crisis, a New Yorker would be your boy. He is obviously so level-headed in the face of disaster.

But you would figure wrong. I have seen them, my precious and beloved neighbors, trapped suddenly in darkened and hot subway trains, with glass breaking around them and crashing sounds in their ears—and they are more panicky than a herd of sheep. The venerable of city civilization is stripped from them with the one bang of collision, and they become scared and rabid animals, ready to run this way and that, lost and witless and heedless.

I suppose people are like that pretty much everywhere; they tell me that men and women went to their watery graves aboard the Titanic with their arms linked, singing hymns, and I find it hard to believe. I have seen people in panic and their behavior is neither despicable nor admirable—it is unbelievable. They no longer are people. They are things, fighting for existence. Remember the Coconut Grove fire disaster in Boston a few years ago? They found bodies stacked almost to the ceiling at the lone exit, where men and women alike had clawed frantically and vainly at each other, trying to fight their way ahead of the next man.

Well—all was well that ended well, and the subway system still

These Days - - By George E. Sokolsky

The Rights of the Defense

So-called liberals reject the right of our government to defend itself against those who oppose its existence, except against armed force. A government is not a mechanical instrument that is brought into existence to serve some necessary social and political functions. It is not a mere expression of majority rule.

Pope Pius XII once put it this way: "The people lives and moves by its own energy; the masses are inert of themselves and can only be moved from outside. The people lives by the fullness of life in the men that compose it, each of whom in his proper place and in his own way is a person conscious of his own responsibility and of his own views."

The masses, on the contrary, waiting for the impulse from outside, become an easy plaything in the hands of anyone who seeks to exploit their instincts and impressions. . . .

A government represents the traditions, the ideals, the hopes, the aspirations of a people. A proud people seeks to defend itself against every force, every power that aims to destroy it. A proud people never dies. Such small nations as the Jews, the Armenians, the Syrians, the Kashmir, the Finns do not die, because they have a tradition of life. . . . All the forces of our land that seek to destroy the character of our nation and our government, that would submerge us into a mass of nations indistinguishable from all others, need to be resisted. In a series of investigations by the House Committee on Un-American Activities, the McCarran Committee, by grand juries, in trials such as that of Alger Hiss and Harry Bridges, we have begun to discover a design for the perversion of our country not by an outside enemy but by our own children, misguided, misled, frightened by the era of war in which they live.

Another investigative agency has been probing deeply into this problem. It is the "Subversive Activities Control Board," an agency of the executive branch of the government. This agency has been investigating the Communist Party itself and in the course of its inquiry questions were asked of John Gates, a high official of the Communist Party, now imprisoned. The colloquy which follows is of more than casual interest: "Q. Suppose you Communists were successful and established your system in this country, what measures would you take against those who would destroy your government by force and violence?"

"Marcantonio: I object. Pretty soon he will be asking him, the difference between two blades of grass . . .

"Chairman Brown: Objection overruled."

"Gates: That can only be established by a majority. The Communist Party would be that of that majority and in the leadership, I hope. Such a government would have every right to defend itself against any attempt to destroy it by force and violence."

Gates is quite correct. If his party came into power, it would naturally defend itself from any attempt to destroy it by force and violence. That is precisely what all the investigative agencies, public and private, are doing now; they are defending the right of their nation and government to exist.

There are some who deny to citizens the right to organize to safeguard their country. They say that that is an exclusive function of the government. Is it possible to believe that citizens may organize to destroy their country but that none may organize to defend their country? The right of our people to organize is inviolable and that right becomes a virtue when its object is to preserve our traditional forms of life.

Gates was asked whether he could give one instance in which the Daily Worker, of which he was editor, supported this government in opposition to the Soviet Union.

"A. I can't think of any such instance because in my opinion the Soviet Union has never put forward policies in any way contrary to the interests of the American people, and that is our sole standard."

This one answer explains everything. He denies the validity of all that his own government has said on this subject and accepts as gospel truth all that Soviet Russia has said on the subject.

The liberals stand between the patriots and those enslaved to a foreign foe. They try to see both sides with a rigid objectivity. Yet, unless they fervently believe in America, they are strengthening its enemies. The middle-of-the-roadsers pave the way for those who plan America's destruction.

Washington Report

—by Fulton Lewis, Jr.

Washington, Aug. 7.—In addition to using a convicted criminal to try and prove that Whittaker Chambers never had a colored maid, Alger Hiss, in his demands for a third trial attempted to prove that Chambers wasn't even a resident in the city of Baltimore, Maryland, at the time he said Hiss visited his home.

The effort failed, just as the attempt to discredit the maid ended in a fiasco.

After months of search just prior to the second Hiss trial, working from addresses, descriptions and an oil painting two decades old, the Federal Bureau of Investigation located Edith Glad Murray, a one-time maid at the Chambers home. I. Edgar Hoyer, FBI director, described the search as the "finest type of FBI investigative procedure."

The Murray woman placed Alger and Priscilla Hiss in the Chambers home in Baltimore, clutching the government's case.

The significant date is April 1, 1938. Chambers had to be in Baltimore, at the Mount Royal Terrace Apartments, on that date or much of his testimony regarding his association with Hiss and the date of his break with the Communist party could be discredited.

Hiss says he was not in the city. As late as April 12, 1938, Mrs. Chambers ordered gas and electric service for the apartment in Baltimore, the utility company records in Baltimore were available to the Hiss defense. They apparently did not check them. The FBI did.

On April 1, 1938, Mrs. Chambers brought the family car to a repair shop at Randallstown, Maryland. This is a suburb of Baltimore. Repair slips are still available.

The Hiss defense examined the files of the headmaster of the Park School in Baltimore. Other trial data hinged on an examination of the school files; both the government and the defense can be presumed to have looked over the records carefully.

Hiss did not submit to the court two pertinent letters in the Park School files.

The two letters in the file are from Mrs. Chambers. The first was mailed from Baltimore on April 2, 1938. The second indicated in its contents that the family would be in Baltimore at least until April 9, 1938.

One of the documents Chambers received from Hiss is dated April 1, 1938. Hiss contends that Chambers left the Communist party before that date, hence could not, as a Communist, have received anything from Hiss at that time. This is one document, out of hundreds. But the date thereon was utilized in an effort to free Hiss from prison.

Chambers testified at both trials that the approximate date of his break with the Communist party was April 15, 1938. He made the estimate on the basis of a job translating a book for the Oxford University Press.

Miss J. Lane, U. S. attorney who successfully argued against a third trial for Hiss, states in his deposition that the "correspondence relating to the translation was accumulated by the defendant through the services of Eleanor Kirstein, a former Tass agent."

Tass was and is the official Soviet Russian news gathering agency in the U. S. With this and other information at his official disposal, Federal Judge Henry Goddard ruled that Alger Hiss is not entitled to a third trial. The notice of the judge's ruling attracted minor attention in the midst of the presidential nominating conventions. It is worth repeating, in substance, however, and worth remembering in the days ahead. The propaganda that Hiss was framed has not subsided.

Judge Goddard ruled: "The contention of the defendant is that he is entitled to another trial. On the contrary, I am of the opinion, after a full consideration of all the defendant has offered, that he is not entitled to a new trial. The defendant has submitted no proof which would support a finding by a jury that the typewriter received in evidence at the trial was constructed by or for Chambers or that the typewriter was not the original Hiss machine. There is no newly discovered evidence which would justify the conclusion that if it were presented to a jury, it would probably result in a verdict of acquittal."

Hiss is eligible for parole this November.

Looking At Life

—by Erich Brandeis

One of the most advantageous places to observe human nature is the lounge car of a transcontinental train. During "the first hours the passengers eye each other like strange dogs."

When the proper sizing up is done, small groups are formed, and soon the reserve is broken down and little cliques begin to form.

Some of these groups consist of only two people—usually a married man and an unmarried female, or the other way around.

Soon the bluffing begins. I have never seen so many "millionaires" as on these cross-country trains, never so many movie "stars" and assorted celebrities as you find in these lounge cars.

It is difficult to tell what makes people so anxious to impress others with their importance. Perhaps it is a hidden inferiority complex which erupts only among strangers. At home, folks can't very well assume to be something that they are not. They are too well known.

But on a train—or a ship—that is something else again. Here anybody can be a king for a day or for two or three days.

One of the favorite bits of conversation is the praise of one's home town. Everybody's town is THE best town. Everybody's climate is THE finest climate.

I have heard people from Kansas extol their wonderful sunshine. One morning at the breakfast table a woman from California had a violent argument with a woman from Florida.

It all started over grapefruit. California's advocate asked the lady from Florida what she thought of the grapefruit she was eating.

"So, so," was the reply, "can't compare with OUR grapefruit, though."

That started it. By the time I remains a strange and wonderful thing. It transports you any place in the city with incredible faithfulness and it provides you with the greatest of opportunities to study your fellow man at close range, with his hair down. If this study makes you cynical about your fellow man—well, that makes you just like me.

was through with my breakfast the two had argued about oranges, lemons, figs, spinach, celery, artichokes—and men.

As far as I could make it out, the California men can't compare with the Florida men and vice versa.

There was a television "magazine" on the train.

He was going East to get the material for a big new factory he was going to build in Los Angeles he said.

The plant would employ hundreds and hundreds of people. It would cost several million dollars. It would be a tremendous enterprise.

The fellow certainly talked big and loud. Everybody in the lounge car could hear him.

I wondered why a man as important as that occupied only an upper berth. (I saw him sneaking into it around midnight.)

Later a Los Angeles woman and I discussed that fellow. She happened to know him.

"He's nothing but a cheap little installment salesman for a piano store in L. A.," she said.

Did I hear "meow?" Or was it the train whistle?

Hollywood

—by Gene Handsaker

Hollywood—Hollywoodians love to put on white tie and tails, dine, make speeches, and give each other awards. But their off-guard, hair-down moments are more entertaining. For instance:

Not long ago the cinematographers—that's the cameramen's fancier-sounding name for themselves—presented a scroll to the scenic artists (scene painters).

"The scroll praised the artists' contribution toward the achievement of excellence. The artists' president foresaw a regeneration of friendly spirit recognitions because industry if such recognitions be King praised the cinematographers as not just the cornerstone but practically the whole foundation of movies. I suppressed a yawn."

The roast chicken had made me drowsy, and I appreciated Master of Ceremonies Harry Crocker's story more. Seems a Hollywood writing-directing-producing genius went crazy. He was happy, in his padded cell, as long as he had scripts to read.

When his attendants finally ran out of scripts, somebody handed him a telephone directory. After perusing it a while he was asked how he liked this new script. "I haven't got to the story yet," said the maddened genius, "but golly, what a cast!"

Next day it was an awards luncheon by the Hollywood Foreign Correspondents' Association at plush Ciro's. The editor of a French movie magazine presented gold medals to Walt Disney, Pier Angeli, Stanley Kramer, and others. Lovely Barbara Bates delivered the dull routine of acceptance, smile and pose-for-the-photographers by dropping a medal on the floor.

Mack Sennett insisted on sharing the credit for his medal with "the gang" at his old studio. "We

The Once Over

August Letter From Korea

Dear Homefront:

Well, the news from back home is just about breaking my heart. The summer has been hot and dry, you say, vacation traffic congestion has been very annoying, fishing has been bad, there is a shortage of big juicy tenderloin steaks for less than $5 in the better restaurants, Tommy Manville still can't find the right wife, and General MacArthur has been forced to go to work for $100,000 a year with a typewriter company on account of he can't find regular employment with the army. It makes a G.I. over here in the Korean hills feel awful low.

On top of all this I hear you are going through a frightful ordeal of nightly visits from flying saucers which do not do no damage to nobody and go away fast without creating any disturbance, leaving everybody guessing. Me and the boys are all busted up over what is being asked of you. One of my buddies just got a letter saying Frankie Costello may yet have to go to jail as he has nearly run out of appeals, that bar glasses are smaller this season, that there is no imported champagne on the market back home and that Rocky Marciano may not be able to get more than $150,000 for fighting Joe Walcott. Sergeant Mooney just got a newspaper clipping which tells of a possible peach blight, a poor summer season for musical comedies, a rise in the price of ton-grade strawberries, with cream, a proposed increase of 10 cents in the cost of a haircut and a lot of trouble getting waterfront rooms at the beach hotels. He were a team; I was the coach," he said. But do you know what I remember more vividly? The way four of the stars at the honored-guests table ate.

Virginia Mayo, served ahead of her right-hand neighbor, Gary Cooper, thrust occasional forkfuls of mashed potatoes and roast beef into his mouth until his plate arrived.

Coop would use his knife to load peas onto his fork along with a bit of roast beef. Doris Day cut her roast beef with her fork. Ray Bolger held his knife like a pencil. And did quite a bit of clowning, with his elbows held close together, to show how crowded they all were at the head table.

What did you say when they told you the Giants wanted you? He was asked. "I said 'Are you kidding?'" he replied. "You let eight homers in the last 11 games; did you ever do that before?" was the next question. "Not that I know of" was the Lardnerian response.

Fetherman Rites To Be Held Sunday

Services for Asst. Police Chief Stanley Fetherman, 50, of 110 N. Ninth St., Stroudsburg, will be at 2:30 p.m. Sunday at Dunkelberger and Westbrook funeral home, Stroudsburg.

Officiating will be Rev. Roger C. Stinson, pastor of Stroudsburg Methodist Church, assisted by Rev. P. N. Wohlson, D.D., pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church, Stroudsburg. Burial will be in Stroudsburg Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home after 7 p.m. Saturday.

Mason rites will be observed there at 8 p.m. Saturday by Barger Lodge No. 325, F and A.M., of which Officer Fetherman was a member.

Family members reported Officer Fetherman spent part of Wednesday night at the West Main St. home of his brother, Floyd, and left there about 9 p.m. to pick up his wife, Stella, at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Granville Shiffer, Stroudsburg RD2.

Back at home in Stroudsburg, he prepared to park his car at the Stroudsburg garage. His wife noticed he was "not acting right" and got out of the car. She went around to the driver's side and saw that her husband was ill.

Mrs. Fetherman called Dr. Theodore Hsu. An ambulance took Fetherman to the hospital. He arrived at 10:10 p.m., died an hour later in an oxygen tent.

Officer Fetherman had been in ill health off and on for some three years. At one point, some years ago, he was bedfast for a time.

Before joining the Stroudsburg police force in 1937, he was employed by the Harry Wyckoff garage in East Stroudsburg. He later owned and operated the Sixth St. garage in Stroudsburg, sold it when he joined the force.

Officer Fetherman was appointed assistant chief shortly after joining the force.

He was a member of Stroudsburg Methodist church; Barger Masonic lodge; Knights of Malta, Stroudsburg; Phoenix Fire Co.; the Fireman's Relief Association; Chiefs of Police Association, and Fraternal Order of Police.

Surviving are his wife, Stella; sister, Mrs. Arthur Sox; brothers Paul M., Fred A. and Floyd E., all of Stroudsburg; another brother, Eugene B., Stroudsburg RD; and a number of nieces and nephews.

Firemen To Honor Deceased Member

Robert Melick, chief of the Stroudsburg Fire Department last night called on members of the department to turn out at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at the fire house, in uniform, to pay respects to the late Stanley Fetherman.

Mr. Fetherman, assistant chief of police, had been a member of Phoenix Fire Co. for years. Firemen will move to the funeral home of Dunkelberger & Westbrook, South Stroudsburg to pay their respects.

The fire bell at the Municipal Building will toll at the time of the funeral, 2:30 p.m. Sunday.

Is your closet tank a "drip"?

See the NEW Crane "SAHARA" designed to end dripping

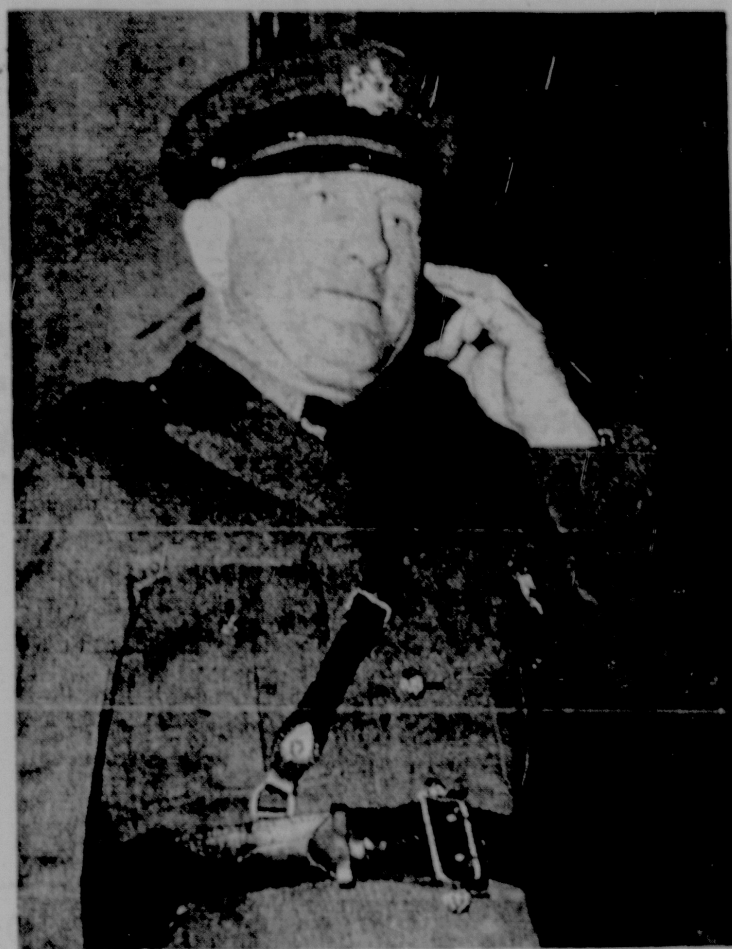

Here's a new idea in closet tanks designed to end an old nuisance—dripping caused by high humidity. Heavy rubber insulating liner keeps cold water in tank from cooling the tank's outside surface, thus eliminating excess condensation.

The Sahara tank is available with four popular Crane closets and is also adaptable to many closets now in service.

Employees Of Borough Under Pension Plan

Last detail of placing all employees and officials of the Borough of Stroudsburg under Federal Social Security, started at the July meeting of council, has been completed.

An ordinance authorizing the agreement between the borough and federal government, under the new regulation allowing municipal employees to come under Social Security, was adopted at the July meeting.

Formal agreements covering the Social Security plan have been prepared by Attorney George T. Robinson, solicitor, and will be submitted in duplicate to Federal Social Security for ratification.

Coverage of all employees—police, street forces, sewer system employees, administration workers, council, chief burgess and any others except temporary employees—will be retroactive to last January 1.

The borough will pay whatever assessments are required to bring the Social Security project up to date. After that the borough will pay one and a half per cent and deduct a similar amount from each employee or official covered.

For a number of years the borough has been paying into a police pension fund and for a long time was prepared to enter into a general municipal employees retirement fund set up under state law.

However, failure of sufficient boroughs in the state to meet these requirements prevented functioning of the system.

Monies paid into this fund have already been turned into government bonds in the name of the Borough of Stroudsburg. Only borough funds are involved here. There were no deductions from individuals.

"I'll be late for dinner, Ann!"

Everybody gets tied up sometimes. What a comfort it is that we can tell our families when it happens! Think of all the worries a voice over the telephone can prevent—and think of all the pleasure that words over wires can bring.

Why can we all take the telephone so much for granted? It comes down to people—the thousands of skilled, dependable men and women who make telephones work. They're on the job around the clock—and they're as important to community welfare as the policeman at the busy corner, or the mailman on his route.

You Can Whisper—and Be Heard!

We should like to have you come in for a ride in a Golden Anniversary Cadillac. And when you do, we hope you will just sit back and relax . . . and listen! And what will you hear?

Well, you'll hear the soft sound of the wind as it slips past the streamlined body . . . and, possibly, the quiet ticking of the electric clock.

But aside from these—you'll hear almost nothing. In fact, you'll find you can actually whisper—and be heard by your fellow-passengers!

We want you to experience this because nothing speaks more eloquently or more convincingly of motor car quality than—silence!

It tells you, first of all, that here is automotive engineering at its superlative best. For such silence of operation can only come when every phase of the car's performance is in perfect harmony.

It speaks of precision—for only the greatest accuracy in design and construction can result in such remarkable freedom from vibration.

It is a testimonial to fine craftsmanship—to quality materials—and to scientific styling.

And, of course, this marvelous quiet foretells many of the pleasures and satisfactions you would enjoy as the car's owner. It promises rest—and relaxation—and peace of mind . . . and a minimum of upkeep expense.

So why not take our suggestion—and come in and drive this beautiful Golden Anniversary creation? Let it tell you its own wonderful story through the things you cannot hear!

Citizens Too Indifferent To Taxation, Sen. Crowe Declares In Rotary Talk

People are entirely too indifferent to taxation and what their lawmakers are doing about taxation, Sen. Montgomery F. Crowe (R-14th District) told members of Stroudsburg Rotary Club yesterday.

Anyone in business today or with any substance in property, whether real or personal, "should put their minds on what their lawmakers are doing, especially about taxes," urged the legislator.

As an example of public reaction to taxes, Sen. Crowe said a street census conducted in a major Pennsylvania city found everybody for a boost in salaries for teachers, but insurance the state buys from his insurance business.

"The state does not buy insurance," he emphasized. As an example he said a recent fire at Indiana State Teachers College created a loss of a million and a half dollars. A special fund to cover such contingencies, when examined, had only been kept up to about $400,000, he said.

"As a result, it's going to cost the taxpayers of the state about a $1.1 million," he advised.

"I might point out in passing that the State chairman is also in the insurance business and would have any priority over me, when it came to distribution of insurance patronage," Crowe dryly remarked.

He said his post pays $3,000 and with expenses of $1,800, less $2,500 a year he pays a secretary to answer about 10,000 letters a year, the net is around $3,300.

Last year—the year he and 11 other GOP senators successfully bucked Gov. Fine's state income tax—Crowe said the state had the largest budget in history—$1,200 millions. He said the governor already sees this upped by $122 millions.

"The state government must tighten its belt and every department must do the same," Crowe warned. He urged these moves to streamline government and provide for greater efficiency.

Return public assistance to the county level for administration with state aid.

Streamline the Department of Public Instruction which has never had an audit of its accounts and can stand some efficiency changes. For instance, place school buses on a common county-wide or, if necessary, inter-county system to eliminate duplication of bus routes by districts and heavy state contributions.

Bring the present road system from township up to county level for more efficient administration and more effective results from state funds contributed.

Bring all state agencies in each county under one roof. He noted that there are some ten agencies here, eight of which are paying rent for separate quarters. A business man, he noted, with that many departments would have them efficiently housed under one roof. Consolidate state departments, for instance, fish, game and forest and waters under one head since they all work under the same territories. New York State, for instance, has one agency for all three, a department of conservation.

Retain a sufficient number of large accounting firms to go over every phase of state operation to determine proper steps for efficiency in operation, elimination of overlapping and unnecessary operations.

Sen. M. F. Crowe

when they were asked which tax they would prefer to pay to finance the raises, everybody was against any further taxation.

"You cannot get these things without paying for them," Crowe advised. "So many people say—let the state pay for it but it comes right out of you in taxation." "You have heard of politicians—and I'm classified as one—bragging about how much they got for this or that project, a laudable achievement, but it all cost you money."

Crowe said most people believe he has a lucrative income from

55th Anniversary Marked By Miller Grocery Store

By James B. Gaffney

The adage that the grocery business is one of the most trying enterprises has been proven false by the Wirt D. Miller Store at 720 Main St., Stroudsburg. For this month Miller's are marking 55 years in business.

James B. Gaffney is located and 30 years later moved to its present location.

Robert Miller, son of the late Wirt Miller is the current owner and has been in the grocery line since 1926. Three clerks assist at the store where free delivery still is advertised.

Another record being celebrated by Miller's is the 35th anniversary this month of the employment of Howard Fabel. He joined the store in 1917 and has been with them ever since.

Norman A. and Ruth Wangman are the new managers of the 61-room Indian Queen Hotel at the corner of Ninth and Main Sts. in Stroudsburg.

The couple formerly managed the hotel 18 months ago and returned to Stroudsburg Aug. 1. They have been in the hotel business for the past 31 years and have applied their knowledge here already by reopening and redecorating the dining room which was closed for one year.

Indian Queen was founded in 1843 and has maintained its name since. The Wangman's managed hotels in New York State and assumed the managerial position from Grenable Hotels, Inc.

The bar at the Indian Queen is open now from 9 a.m. to 1 a.m. Previously it opened at 4 p.m.

Fred H. Sheese, Monroe County representative for C. G. Winans Co. of Trenton, N.J., has been cited for outstanding proficiency in the selling profession. It was learned here this week.

Well known in this section, Sheese has covered this territory for 26 years. The trophy is presented each year by the National Sales Executives to men who distinguish themselves as salesmen.

Billy Green of Effort weighed in at 35 pounds Tuesday at the local J.C. Penney Store to become the first youngster to be photographed in Penney's unusual promotion, a penny-a-pound.

Accompanied by his mother, Mrs. William Green, Billy exhibited his big blue eyes to Martha Durham, the photographer and his mother paid 35 cents for the photo. The promotion will continue until Saturday with Marlene Walker replacing Miss Durham behind the lens.

Penney's 1625 stores across the nation all are expected to be covered by the photo promotion. Eleven new stores are being added this year to the chain.

Max Stadfeld, local manager is on vacation for two weeks and is being replaced for this period by Carl Abel of Canton, Ohio. Abel will serve in a supervisory capacity and return to Canton when Stadfeld completes his vacation.

Stroudsburg's Montgomery-Ward Store has a new assistant manager. Appointment of Herman Van Eiten of Ithaca, N.Y., to assist

Charles Cathers, manager, was announced here this week. Van Eiten, who has been with the chain a year and a half, succeeds Robert Franklin, aide here for two years who is now at Newport News, Va. with Montgomery-Ward.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Seems as if a lot of people had good news yesterday. Mary Taylor heard from Hacky and he's already found them a house out there in Texas.

Jo Rockwell was sort of indecisive last night with the news that Nancy is graduating down at Bainbridge and will be home for leave from the WAVES next week.

The Monroe County Garden Club board members had such a good time at Mrs. Stackhouse's yesterday that before they knew it, it was five o'clock, and nothing started for supper either.

That garden tour of local gardens sounds like a wonderful idea, and with the saving rain, they ought to have some pretty gardens to look at, too.

Mrs. Wendell Wickes was happily carting off some candle moulds and sleigh-bells from the antique show, on which she plans to do some scouring.

In fact, last night seemed to be home town night at the antique show with a lot of familiar figures digging in the cookie moulds and standing entranced among the glassware. The Leitners and Catherine Shupp and the Wyckoffs and the Fanslers and I can't remember how many others.

I was looking for Mrs. Gilbert

Hometown Reunion At Athens, Greece

A stranger in a strange land, that was S/N Donald Barry of Stroudsburg when his ship docked at Athens, Greece, which made the surprise all the greater when he was summoned to meet some visitors who had asked to see him.

The visitors turned out to be Mr. and Mrs. William Livadas of Stroudsburg, who are vacationing in Greece. It's a small world, but the three of them made it seem even smaller as they talked of hometown news.

Donald, who is the son of Mrs. Lucy Barry, Stroudsburg, is on a six-month cruise with the Navy on the USS Salem, which has docked at all the major Mediterranean ports.

Beakleyville 4-H Projects Advancing

Progress in all departments was reported at the monthly meeting of the Beakleyville 4-H Club at the home of the president, Sue Wick, on Monday, August 4. Their flower cultivation projects have had spectacular results, and the poultry projects show great promise with minimum losses suffered to date.

The group discussed their share in the Monroe County 4-H Club picnic held on Wednesday, and after the meeting the members enjoyed songs and games including a pantomime quiz on books and general subjects.

The next meeting is scheduled for Thursday, September 4.

Those present were: Mrs. Emma Ross, Miss Ruth Williams, Miss Edith Emery, Mrs. R. W. Besacker, Mrs. Nick Ervey, Mrs. Harry Bellis, Mrs. Margaret McCoy, Mrs. John Ribble, Miss Ella Jelinek, Mrs. Clarence Myers, Mrs. Daisy Decker, Miss Daisy Newbaker, Mrs. Charles Newbaker and Mrs. Fred Gardner.

Nominating Committee For Club Women

Mrs. A. Rynd McDowell, president of the Glen Brook Clubwomen, who held their annual Ladies Day luncheon and tournament at the clubhouse yesterday, named a nominating committee to report at the final luncheon, scheduled for Thursday, August 21.

Mrs. Clifford Heller is chairman of the nominating committee which also includes Mrs. George Savidge and Mrs. M. E. Kiefer.

Around The Stroudsburgs

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Bersch and their two children of Silver Springs, N. Y., are spending a week with relatives in the Stroudsburgs. The Berschs were formerly residents of Stroudsburg.

Mr. and Mrs. James Allam, of Stroudsburg, had as their guest last week Mrs. Allam's mother, Mrs. Bertha Carras, of New York City. On Friday they expect Mrs. Allam's sister, Miss Helen Carras, also of New York City.

Garden Tour, Flower Show Scheduled

Plans for an all-day tour of local gardens in August and for a flower show in September were discussed at the meeting of the executive board of the Monroe County Garden Club held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Frank Stackhouse, West Main St., Stroudsburg.

Mrs. Robert A. Miller, president, presided at the meeting. The Garden Tour scheduled for Thursday, August 21, will start in the morning from Mrs. Miller's home, 906 Main St., and after a recess for luncheon at home, the members will reassemble at 2:30 at Millers for a program featuring Mrs. Mildred Wierbach.

The day will close with a tea, with Mrs. William Levering serving as hostess of the tea committee.

The flower show in September will this year be open to the public, a change from the shows of the past few years which have been closed affairs. New, too, will be a special class for men only, called "A Man in the House" in which men will be invited to display arrangements to be judged for originality, color and general eye appeal.

Mrs. Millard Rice, president of the Pocono Garden Club, will serve as judge of the show, with two other Pocono club members, Mrs. John N. Canfield Jr., and Mrs. James Smith.

The show itself will be held at the YMCA from 2:30 to 10 p. m., September 18, and will be called "The Garden Mart" with vegetables and plant material for sale.

Following the meeting yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Stackhouse served refreshments to Mrs. Russell E. Hamblin, Mrs. Roy Houser, Mrs. Elwood Grant, Mrs. William Hawa, Mrs. Robert Miller, Miss Fannie Swartswelder, Mrs. Frank Kerr, Mrs. David Shiffer and daughter, Betty Jean.

Household Hints

To shape Parker House rolls, roll the yeast dough one-quarter inch thick and cut in two-inch rounds. Brush tops lightly with soft butter or margarine and crease through center. Fold over and press down top.

Young children often refuse a food without being able to explain that they have grown tired of the taste, smell, and sight of it. Mothers should be careful to see that their children's menus vary from day to day.

Leftover barbecue sauce may be used as a filling for an omelet, but go slow in adding it since it will probably be much spicier than the regular tomato sauce usually called for. One to two tablespoons will be plenty for a two-egg omelet.

Antique Show Closes Today; Crowds Excellent

The 4th annual Pocono Mountains Antique Show and Sale will close its successful four-day run today at the East Stroudsburg Armory. Sponsored by the General Hospital Auxiliary, the show has drawn excellent crowds to see the antiques brought here by more than forty dealers.

Another dealer from Kentucky opened a booth on Wednesday at the show and many dealers have had to replenish their stock. The sales have been so brisk that Mrs. Gilbert Barthold, director of the show, already has many reservations from dealers for the same space at next year's show.

The auxiliary members have also been busy in the cafeteria maintained in the basement of the armory where light lunches, sandwiches and other refreshments are sold.

The show will be open today from 1 to 10:30 p. m.

SMILE DEAR, HERE COMES THE PHOTOGRAPHER! Mrs. Esther Shaffer, Tannersville, holds out one of her proudest domesticated wild animals and birds—a great horned owl which Mrs. Shaffer calls only "Little Owl." When she first got the bird, the name may have seemed appropriate—now "Little Owl" is beginning to outgrow his title. Mrs. Shaffer, whose husband is a fire warden, operates the fire tower on Big Pocono during the fall and spring seasons. Considered a rare pet, the great Horned owl is generally aloof and adept at blowing his own horn. If that were a British joke, one could say: "That's an owl if I ever heard one." Worst Week For Polio Yet To Come

Harrisburg, (AP) — The number of cases of infantile paralysis in Pennsylvania this year may equal the incidence in 1950, the State Health Department indicated yesterday.

The prediction was made by Dr. William D. Schrack Jr., of the department's Bureau of Health Conservation, who called 1950 a "relatively high year."

There were 1,460 cases of polio in Pennsylvania that year. In 1951 the total dropped to 871.

The bureau said that up to yesterday there have been 132 cases reported, or 10 more than the number on this day last year.

Mrs. John Hoerner, 20, of nearby Hummelstown died of polio in Harrisburg Hospital yesterday, the second victim of the disease at that hospital this week. Gideon Peachley, 16, of Belleville, died at that hospital Sunday.

Fatality figures on a statewide basis take six months to compile.

"Until recently this year's total cases was running behind last year's. This gave many persons false assurances and the wrong picture," Dr. Schrack said.

"The statistics all point toward 1952 resembling 1950, not last year. Don't forget, the worst week is still to come. Over the years we have learned that more cases are reported the third week of September than during any other seven days of the year."

The bureau reported 26 cases of polio in Allegheny County, 13 in

GOP State Committee To Convene

Harrisburg, (AP) — The 113-member Republican State Committee will meet in Pittsburgh Sept. 6 presidential campaign in Pennsylvania.

State Sen. M. Harvey Taylor, GOP chairman said yesterday the call for the organization meeting will be sent out to committee members in the next several days.

He said Sen. Edward Martin, seeking re-election, and the party's three other statewide candidates have been invited to attend. They are Judge John C. Arnold, Clearfield, for the State Supreme Court; State Treasurer Charles R. Barber, Erie, for auditor general; and Auditor General Weldon B. Heyburn, Concordville, for state treasurer.

Taylor said he is conducting a series of conferences with various party leaders, including the candidates for statewide office, to work out some campaign plan prior to the state committee meeting.

"The state committee meeting will be of the kickoff for the campaign for the Nov. 4 election," Taylor added.

Plans also are expected to be Philadelphia County and 16 in Montgomery County so far this year. No other county had more than 10 cases.

However, Dr. Schrack pointed out that the total number of cases per county is not significant because county population is not taken into consideration.

"Four hundred cases in Philadelphia County would be no worse than one in Cameron County," he added.

Pacific Pact To Disappoint Some Powers

Honolulu, (AP) — The United States, Australia and New Zealand Wednesday set up a military organization for mutual security but there is bound to be disappointment among the Pacific powers that were excluded.

The decision not to make any formal link now with other Pacific nations was announced at the end of three days of conferences by Secretary of State Acheson and Ministers of External Affairs Richard G. Casey of Australia and T.

Clifton Webb of New Zealand. While the Philippines government takes the official view that it will be fitted into a Pacific defense structure later, the opposition Nationalist party has been bitterly critical.

The Nationalists charge that the so-called ANZUS conference here drew the color line against Asians by excluding the Philippines. The Chinese Nationalists on Formosa took a similar line.

It also is expected that the British will exhibit some pique because the Commonwealths of Australia and New Zealand are dealing in formal commitments in the Pacific without Britain.

The British, of course, have a stake in Hong Kong and in rich Malaya, where Communist guerrillas wage active war.

Philadelphia District PGA Tourney Expected To Draw Record Field At Shawnee This Month

Shawnee-on-Delaware — The Philadelphia District PGA championship golf tournament to be played over the Shawnee Country Club course here August 17, 18, 19, 20 and 21 will draw an all-time record field according to Al Macdonald, president of the District Association.

Seven former champions, two of them two-time winners, will be shooting for the title including Rod Munday, Country Club of York, Pa., who captured the crown last year by defeating Henry Williams, Jr., Berkeleigh Country Club, Kutztown, Pa., a former champion, in the finals.

Besides Munday and Williams, others seeking the title again will include Clarence Ehresman, Ashburne C. C. and "Bud" Lewis, Manufacturers C. C., both two-time winners; and Sam Davis, Woodcrest C. C.; Charles Schneider Sr., Lulu C. C.; Mat Kowal, Philmont C. C. and George Fazio, Pine Valley C. C.

Teri Johnson of DuPont C. C., Wilmington, Del., who won the medal last year with a four-under par 63 qualifying score, also will be among the contestants.

According to Macdonald, the Philadelphia District PGA, now numbering close to 150 members, is the second largest district in the nation.

"This 1952 tournament will set an all-time record for our district and can be the biggest district PGA tournament in the entire country," said Macdonald. "We have the second largest district and the largest number of playing pros in the United States."

The PGA tournament, which starts Monday, August 18 will be preceded by the annual Pro-Amateur championship at Shawnee, Sunday, August 17. This event will draw some of the nation's top amateur players to pair up with the pros in the best ball of partners event.

Red Sox Earn Even Break With A's

Philadelphia, (AP) — The third place Boston Red Sox held their own in the American League pennant race yesterday by splitting with the Philadelphia Athletics, winning the second game, 8 to 4, after the A's grabbed the opener, 7 to 5.

Al Benton won the second game, holding the A's to two hits in the last four and two-third innings after starter Willard Nixon and his relief, Ralph Brickner, almost blew a seven-run lead.

Open Scoring

The Red Sox opened their scoring in the nightcap in the first inning on a single by Faye Throneberry, a double by Dom Di Maggio and a fielder's choice.

A double by Bill Goodman, a walk to George Kell, a triple by "Hoot" Evers and Nixon's long fly sent three more over in the third.

Sharp Note Triumphs In Hambletonian

By John Chandler

Goshen, N. Y. (AP) — Sharp Note, a $1,000 bargain colt, was driven to a smashing victory in the $87,637.55 Hambletonian Stake yesterday by a 74-year-old veteran of the Spanish American War.

Bi Shively thus became the oldest man to drive a Hambletonian victor, as he took the second and third heads of the famous trotting derby for C. W. Clark, a Dearborn, Mich., tool and die manufacturer.

The winner, a bay three-year-old son of Phonograph-Rosemary Hanover by Guy McKinney, thrashed 15 of the best sophomore trotters in the world, including Duke of Lullwater, the 1951 two-year-old champion and favorite to win this big harness event.

In fact, Duke of Lullwater owned by Walter T. Candler of Decatur, Ga., did no better than third money, as the Goshen jinx continued to hang over him. He has never won a race here, but has been unbeatable at other tracks.

Opening Heat

Hit Song, owned by L. B. Sheppard of Hanover, Pa., and the Arden Homestead Stable of E. R. Harriman and E. T. Gerry, won the opening heat, with the Duke second. Sharp Note broke stride in that heat and finished third. But he was the boss from then on.

In the overall finish, Hit Song was second.

This is the first time since 1947 that the Hambletonian has gone three heats. That year Shively drove Rodney to victory in the opening heat, but Hoot Mon won the next two and set the race record of 2:00 flat. Shively also drove Lester Hanover in the 1945 race, but was out of the money.

Clark, who went on the track to get the cup for the 27th Hambletonian, has been in the sport only six years.

Yankees Split With Senators

Washington, (AP) — Bob Kuzava limited Washington to four hits to capture his sixth decision as the New York Yankees defeated the Senators, 7-1, in the second game of a doubleheader yesterday after Washington won the first game, 4-2.

The Yankees blasted Don Johnson for a 5-0 lead in the first three innings of the second game and increased it to 7-0 against Randy Gumpert in the fifth inning when Gene Woodling slammed his ninth homer after Yogi Berra walked.

Survives Attack

Julio Moreno survived a 12-hit attack in the first game to post his first victory over the Yankees in a three-year major league career.

Jim McDonald, who went the distance for the Yankees in the opener, was nipped for two runs in the first inning when Jackie Jensen tripled, Pete Runnels singled and Mickey Vernon doubled.

New York picked up a run in the third on singles by "Hank" Bauer, Mickey Mantle and Berra, but the Senators lifted their lead to 3-1 in the fourth on Floyd Baker's double and Jim Busby's single.

The Yankees got a run in the sixth on Woodling's single and Gil McDougald's triple, but Washington boosted the score to its final proportions in the eighth when Runnels singled, went to third on Vernon's single and scored on Baker's outfield fly.

First Game

New York 001 001 000—2 12 0
